

Today I dyed my hair again.
Third time in the last two months.
But this change is not the change I needed.
Everything stands still and I want to move.
Everyone speaks and I want silence.
Minding my own business.
I have plenty of time, anyways I feel stressed,
I feel too much but not enough
Kindness
Warmness
Daily life.

Once I had a long distance relationship.
It was okay, I had no problem.
This time is harder.
Why is it so difficult to live with the idea that the one you love lives twenty minutes away but in reality you don't know how long it will take until you feel
Kindness
Warmness
Daily life
Again.

However, maybe it's not that bad.
Yes, I miss my friends,
My love,
My classmates,
Even the annoying long way to school.
But in this time without these things,
I learn to appreciate
Kindness
Warmness
And the daily life.